I. INTRODUCTION

On 3 March 2000 California citizens voted to adopt Proposition 1A intended to amend the State's Constitution to allow the Governor to negotiate compacts with Indian tribes to allow some categories of class III casino style gambling to be operated by Indian tribes on Indian lands. At the time and prior to then there were several illegal uncompacted Indian tribes operating class III type gambling casinos largely in more remote rural areas of the State. These illegal casinos and outside non-Indian gambling investors contributed heavily to the passage of Proposition 5 the first initiative that preceded Proposition 1A and also contributed heavily to the election of former governor Gray Davis who had negotiated nearly all the tribal-state compacts in 1999 and which are still in effect to this day. [See the historical discussion in In Re Indian Gaming Related Cases [9th Circ. CA 2003] 331 F 3d 1034. And also the California Supreme Court case of Hotel Employees and

Restaurant Workers Union International v. Gray Davis

[1999] 21 Cal.4th 585 88 Cal.Rptr.2d 56, 981 P.2d 990.

The Proposition 1A Amendment to Art. 4 section 19 of the Constitution, unwittingly opened a virtual floodgate by small groups and bands of Indian tribal descendants and claimants seeking to construct and operate gambling casinos all over California. In addition to the efforts of these sometimes highly questionable "tribes", often financed by outside non-Indian gambling investors, concerted efforts were also made to either acquire land near larger gambling markets or bring existing fee owned lands into trust.<sup>1</sup> Eligible "Indian Lands" were required for Indian gaming under the Indian Gaming and Regulatory Act. 25 USC 2701 et seq. [hereinafter simply the I.G.R.A.].

Indian casinos, whether offering class II or class III gaming had to be located by law on eligible Indian lands of the tribe or band of Indians as those bands existed on October 1988 when the I.G.R.A. was enacted.

1 This is an excerpt from a letter sent from 2 N.I.G.C. general counsel to tribal chief Jim Henson of 3 the United Keetowah Band of Cherokee Indians of 4 Oklahoma explaining the I.G.R.A. and eligible Indian
5 Lands. Here is what he said. [PRJN #44]

8 Overview of Applicable Provisions of the 9 Indian Gaming Regulatory Act

10 An Indian tribe may engage in gaming under IGRA
11 only on "Indian lands within such tribe's 12 jurisdiction," 25 U.S.C. § 2710(b). Moreover, if 13 the proposed lands are trust or restricted
14 lands, rather than land with the limits of an 15 Indian reservation, the tribe may conduct 16 gaming on such lands only if it exercises
17 "governmental power" over those lands. 25
18 U.S.C. § 2703(4)(B); 25 C.F.R. § 502.12(b). IGRA
19 explicitly defines "Indian lands" as follows:

20 (A) all lands within the limits of any 21 Indian reservation; and

22 (B) any lands title to which is either
23 held in trust by the United States for the 24 benefit of any Indian tribe or individual or 25 held by any Indian tribe or individual
26 subject to restriction by the United States
27 against alienation and over which an Indian
28 tribe exercises governmental power.

25 U.S.C. § 2703(4).

NIGC regulations have further clarified the Indian lands definition, providing that:

Indian lands means:

(a) Land within the limits of an Indian reservation; or

(b) Land over which an Indian tribe exercises governmental power and that is either -

(1) Held in trust by the United States for the benefit of any Indian tribe or individual; or

(2) Held by an Indian tribe or individual subject to restriction by the United States against alienation.

25 C.F.R. § 502.12. Generally, lands that do not qualify as Indian lands under IGRA are subject to state gambling laws. See National Indian Gaming Commission: Definitions Under the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act, 57 Fed. Red. 12382, 12388 (1992).

Lands acquired by an Indian tribe after October 1988 were ineligible for gaming unless they met one of the narrow exceptions set out in 25 U.S.C. 2719.

The state defendants mischaracterize Plaintiffs complaint at the outset in their Motion to Dismiss when they assert that "the complaint's central theme is that the Buena Vista Rancheria is not a tribe legally entitled to recognition and that the site of the tribe's proposed casino is therefore not eligible for gaming under federal and state law."

1 To the contrary the gravaman of Plaintiffs
2 complaint in this case is that the 67.5 acre site-
3 specific parcel of fee land located at Buena Vista upon
4 which the State has now approved and sanctioned a class
5 III gambling casino, is not eligible for gaming at all
6 by anyone, was never a reservation, has never been 7 placed in trust and is nothing but a parcel of fee
8 simple land owned over the years by various people. It
9 was always held in fee simple title since at least the 10 late 1800's right up to the time it was ostensibly 11 acquired by deed in May 1996 by an entity created and 12 controlled at the time by DonnaMarie Potts and which 13 she called the "Buena Vista Rancheria of Me-Wuk 14 Indians" [hereinafter simply the tribe].
17
18
19

20 The questions concerning the erroneous
21 organization of this fictitious tribe and its purported
22 federal acknowledgement and recognition is a separate 23 issue. That issue is raised by Plaintiffs Crabtree and 24 Guery who are the true Indian descendants entitled to
26
27
28

1 organize any Indian tribe under the Indian
2 Reorganization Act 25 USC 465 through 479.

15 On 9 Nov. 1927 the Department authorized the 16 purchase of 67.5 acres of land for the use and 17 occupation of any homeless and itinerant Indians [PRJN

20 That land was purchased from the federal 21 government in fee from Louis Alpers and Marjory Alpers.
23

24 Any Indian seeking to use and occupy a Rancheria 25 parcel would apply for and be given an "assignment."
28

1 The Oliver family, Indian descendants, occupied that
2 land and were given an informal assignment. [PRJN #5]

3 The Olivers requested they be given a fee patent to 4 the 67.5 acre parcel of land at Buena Vista. [PRJN #6]

6 When Congress enacted the Rancheria Act in 1958 a
7 plan to distribute that land to Louis and Annie Oliver
8 was proposed and consented to by all of the Oliver
9 family. [PRJN #7]

11 On Oct. 19, 1959 a deed was given the Olivers
12 conveying title to the entire parcel to Louis Oliver
14 [PRJN #8]

17 On 19 Oct. 1959 a letter was sent to the Olivers
18 confirming the land was their property, completely 19 unrestricted and they could do what they wanted with 20 it. [PRJN #9]

22 The following year, 1960, the Olivers mortgaged
23 the land. [PRJN #10]

1 Subsequently Annie Oliver died and the land became
2 Louis Oliver's property as the surviving joint tenant.

3 On 31 August 1973 Louis Oliver died intestate and 4 the land was admitted to Probate. [PRJN #12 & #13]

6 Louie Oliver left two surviving children Lucille
7 Lucero [nee Oliver] and Enos Oliver. During the probate
8 process a grandson, Jesse "Flying Cloud" Pope
9 relinquished any and all right title or interest he 10 might have by grant deed.

13 On 27 November 1978 Lucille Lucero made a Will 14 bequeathing her right title and interest in the Buena
15 Vista land to DonnaMarie Grove<sup>4</sup> (nee Potts). [PRJN #14]
16

17 Enos Oliver, Louie's only son, died intestate on 18 August 31, 1978 and his estate was administered in Amador
19 County Probate Court, which assumed jurisdiction over his 20 undivided interest in the land subject to his sister
21 Lucille Lucero's expectancy on final distribution.

24 On 10 July 1979 a lawsuit was filed by attorney
25 Rappaport of the California Indian Legal Services on

28 <sup>4</sup> At this point her interest in the Buena Vista property was her right to distribution of an undivided 1/2 interest along with her brother Enos Oliver's interest before the County Probate Court.

1 behalf of several named individual Plaintiffs and 2 against the United States, Secretary of Interior and 3 other federal officials as well as the County of 4 Mendocino California tax collector and assessor. [PRJN
5 #15] The body of the complaint also contained specific
6 allegations concerning the Pinolville, Redwood Valley
7 and Big Valley Rancherias and breaches of alleged 8 agreements made with these Indian occupants, residents
9 and assignees.

12
13 In relevant part that lawsuit alleged certain
14 groups of Indians living on Rancheria lands were made
15 promises of improvements to the land being distributed 16 to them and which were not done as promised and they 17 further alleged other benefits and requirements of the 18 Rancheria Act were not complied with and that 19 Plaintiffs had been damaged as a result. Among other
20 things that complaint prayed for relief which included
21 at item d. of the prayer that:
24

25 "the deeds conveyed to individual Indian
26 distributes to lands on the subject
27 Rancherias and other trust allotments are 28 voidable and the Secretary of Interior is under a duty to notify each distributee of

1        this fact and offer to take said lands back
2        into federal trust status at the option of 3        each distributee." [Emphasis by italics]

4        At some point that action was apparently certified
5        as a class action for 17 named Rancherias including
6        Buena Vista. A stipulation and judgment based thereon,
7        was entered into between the Plaintiffs and their 8        attorneys and the federal defendants on or about 2
9        August 1983. [PRJN #16]

11       That stipulated judgment provided that the 17
12       named Rancherias and individual persons who received a 13       distribution of assets of any of the Rancherias were a 14       "class." The individual Indian defendants who lost
15       status and rights as Indians by the provisions of the 16       Rancheria Act distribution were restored to their prior 17       Indian status. The judgment provided as follows:

18       paragraph 3.

19       3. That "the Secretary of Interior shall 20       recognize all tribes, bands, communities,
21       groups (sic) of the seventeen Rancherias
22       listed in paragraph 1 as Indian entities with 23       the same status they possessed prior to 24       distribution of the assets of these 25       rancherias ..." [Emphasis added by italics]

paragraph 4.

1           4. "Any named individual Plaintiff or 2       class member who received or presently owns
3       fee title to an interest in any former trust
4       allotment by reason of the distribution of 5       the assets of any of the Rancherias listed in 6       paragraph 1 shall be entitled to elect to 7       restore any such interest to trust status, to 8       be held by the United States for the benefit
9       of such Indian tribes. PRJN [Emphasis added 10       by italics]

paragraph 6.

11           6. Any named plaintiff or other class
12       member herein may elect to convey to the 13       United States any land for which the United 14       States issued fee title in connection with or 15       as the result of the distribution of assets
16       of said rancherias to be held in trust for 17       his/her individual benefit or any other
18       member or members of the rancheria, authority
19       for the acceptance of said conveyances being 20       vested in the Secretary of the Interior under 21       Section 5 of the act of June 18, 1934, "The 22       Indian Reorganization Act," 48 Stat. 985, 25
23       U.S.C. 465 as amended by Section 203 of the 24       Indian Land Consolidation Act, Pub. L. 97-25       459, Title II, 96 Stat. 1512 and/or the 26       equitable powers of this court. [emphasis 27       added by italics]

paragraph 8.

28           9. Upon entry of judgment herein the United States shall give personal mail notice to each individual plaintiff and other class members (to the extent such persons can be identified and located through the exercise of reasonable efforts) that said individuals may elect to return their lands to trust pursuant to the judgment entered pursuant to

1        this stipulation. Said notice shall advise
2        that the Bureau of Indian Affairs will assist
3        those individuals desiring to convey lands to 4        the United States, including providing for 5        forms and instructions. [Emphasis added by 6        italics]

7        The Secretary of Interior gave these notices as 8        required and offers of assistance to those who desired
9        or elected to convey their fee titles to Rancheria
10       lands, back to the United States in Indian trust
11       status. [PRJN #17]

13       The court allowed a two year period in which those 14       individuals who were distributed fee lands could re-
15       convey that land back to the U.S. "in trust" and also 16       to settle the boundaries of those rancherias which 17       boundaries would necessarily have to be re-set once it
18       was determined which lands remained in private fee
19       ownership and which parcels, if any, were conveyed back
20       to the United States. The court retained jurisdiction
21       to determine the Rancheria boundaries until they were 22       settled later as to those affected by re-conveyance.
25
26
27
28

1 On 24 July 1985, Lucille Lucero conveyed all of
2 her right, title and interest in the Buena Vista land
3 to DonnaMarie Potts by Grant Deed.<sup>5</sup> [PRJN #19]

5 On 14 May 1987 a second stipulation was entered 6 into between the ostensible class of Plaintiffs and 7 their attorneys and various counties and county tax
8 officials who agreed to the disposition of taxes
9 collected previously and to the tax status of the 10 Rancheria lands including the Buena Vista fee parcel
11 which at the time was still under Probate Court
12 Administration. The United States did not participate
13 in this stipulation.

15 A second stipulated judgment was entered with the 16 various County defendants including Amador County.
17 [PRJN #20 and #21]

19 During the 18-year long pendancy of the estate of 20 Enos Oliver his wife Lydia Oliver also died testate
21 necessitating the creation of another probate to 22 administer her Will and on 19 March 1995 Lucille Lucero

25
26
27
28 <sup>5</sup> This was the expectancy to be obtained from the final Distribution of the Estate of Enos Oliver still pending the Amador County probate court.

1 also died testate. [PRJN #22] requiring yet a fourth
2 probate to administer her 1975 Will.

3 The estate interest in the Buena Vista land under 4 court jurisdiction then passed or was distributed to 5 the estate of Lucille Lucero also pending at that time
6 and also to the estate of Lydia Oliver pending at that
7 time. [PRJN #23 & #24]

10 Donna Marie Potts then acquired title to the vast 11 majority of the Buena Vista land by Will and the 12 earlier grant deed. She made an agreement with Lydia
13 Oliver's only son John Fielder to pay him some $15,000
14 as consideration after which he would relinquish any 15 claim or interest in the land to be distributed from 16 his mother Lydia's estate to DonnaMarie Potts.

19
20 This agreement, made prior to May 1996, became 21 final on 1 August 1996 by final order of distribution
22 in the Amador County Probate Court.

24 As of August 1996 DonnaMarie Potts became the sole
25 owner having united the fractionated title of the Buena
26 Vista land in fee simple ownership.
27
28

1 Prior to the final Judgment of distribution,
2 DonnaMarie Potts made and recorded a deed in the Amador
3 County Records Office conveying the entire Buena
4 Vista parcel to a so-called "Buena Vista Rancheria of 5 Me-Wuk Indians," a putative tribe consisting of her and 6 her two children and that she had begun seeking federal 7 acknowledgement and recognition for since about 1985 or
8 1986. [PRJN #26]

11 DonnaMarie Potts then purported to immediately
12 deed the entire Buena Vista fee lands of this "tribe"
13 to the United States in trust, executing and recording
14 that deed as "tribal spokesperson" just moments after 15 recording the first deed. [PRJN #27]

18 The attempt to convey that fee land into trust was 19 rejected by the United States when submitted by the 20 County recorder. [PRJN #28.]

22 On or about 2000 Donna Marie Potts submitted for 23 federal approval a final version of a "tribal gaming
24 ordinance" to the federal government and that ordinance
25 was approved but only for gaming on "Indian Lands."

1 Potts then announced her intent publicly to construct
2 and open a gambling casino on that Buena Vista land.<sup>6</sup>

3 In September 1999 and prior to approval of the 4 gaming ordinance DonnaMarie Potts, purporting to act
5 for the "Buena Vista Rancheria of Me-Wuk Indians,"

17 B.I.A. The B.I.A. wrote to the attorney for Potts

27 <sup>6</sup> That land was considered by many Indian descendants in Amador County, such as Plaintiffs Bea Crabtree
28 and June Geary, as a sacred burial ground where it is documented that many graves currently exist. [PRJN
#34]

1 Originally Rhonda Pope had complained that Potts'
2 intent to build a gambling casino on sacred Indian
3 burial grounds was offensive and inappropriate.

5 A lawsuit was then filed by her on 12/7/2001 and a
6 preliminary injunction was issued on 3/7/2002. [PRJN
7 #30]

9 Plaintiffs Crabtree and Geary were not parties to 10 that suit and had no notice of it or any of the 11 asserted "tribal decisions" made by either Potts or 12 Pope. Nor were they contacted by anyone from the B.I.A.
13

14 That lawsuit by Pope was purportedly settled by an 15 agreement that Potts would be paid some Twenty-Five 16 Million Dollars with Fifteen Million up front<sup>7</sup> and more
17 to be received later. Potts was also to become a 18 "historic member" of the putative "Buena Vista 19 Rancheria of Me-Wuk Indians" along with her children.
20 Rhonda Pope would become chairperson of this tribe and 21 her children would become enrolled members. [PRJN #31]

27 <sup>7</sup> The hilly and rural, remote and undeveloped 67.5 acres of Buena Vista land was valued at the time at 28 approximately $3,000 an acre or a total market value of only around one-hundred sixty thousand dollars [$160,000].

1       The stay in effect was lifted for one day in 2004
2 to allow Rhonda Pope to execute and amend the 1999
3 tribal-state compact procured and executed originally 4 by DonnaMarie Potts.

6       On December 29, 2004 some 4 years after the 7 Secretary had approved a site-specific gaming ordinance
8 and tribal-state compact, attorney Judith Kammins
9 Albeitz, acting on behalf of "the tribe" wrote to the 10 N.I.G.C. for an opinion whether or not the fee property
11 at Buena Vista was eligible for class III casino
12 gambling. [PRJN #32]

15       On 30 June 2005 Penny Coleman, staff legal counsel
16 for the NIGC wrote attorney Albeitz a letter, opining
17 that the Buena Vista fee land owned by the putative
18 tribe, the "Buena Vista Rancheria of Me-Wuk Indians"
19 was eligible for class III Indian gambling. [PRJN 38]

22       The D.O.I. takes and the N.I.G.C. take the 23 position that a determination that a tribe's land is 24 eligible for gaming must be made. [See letters from

3 Despite the execution of two Memoranda of 4 Understanding between D.O.I. and N.I.G.C. [PRJN #42],
5 much confusion exists between the two agencies as to 6 who and how an Indian Lands eligibility determination
7 is to be made and when it must be made. [PRJN #44]

16 COMPACT TO ALLOW OR PROMOTE SUCH ILLEGAL GAMBLING

21 The federal defendants filed their answer in this 22 case putting the allegations raised by Plaintiffs'
23 complaint in issue as to them. The State defendants
24 have filed this Motion to Dismiss based upon four 25 assertions. (1) The Eleventh Amendment bars
26
27
28

1 Plaintiffs' State law claim; (2) there is no right of 2 action available to Plaintiffs under the tribal-state
3 compact; (3) Plaintiffs have failed to join a required
4 and indispensable party; and lastly (4) collectively
5 this establishes Plaintiffs' complaint fails to state
6 any grounds for relief.

9 It is well settled that in any Motion to Dismiss a
10 complaint, that the factual allegations must generally
11 be taken as true. See Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly
12 [2007] 127 S.Ct. 1955. See also for example Wolfe v.
13 Strankman 392 F.3d 358 [9th Circ. 2004]. This results
14 largely because the law favors all matters be heard on 15 their merits and dismissal is the harshest of remedies.

18 As set out in the statement of relevant facts and 19 prior proceedings above and as supported by EXHIBITS in 20 Plaintiffs' Requested Judicial Notice [PRJN] as well as 21 the Declaration of Counsel, the 67.5 acres of real 22 property at Buena Vista is not now and never was an 23 Indian reservation. Indian reservations can only be 24 created by Act of Congress or special powers given to 25
26
27
28

1 the Executive Branch to create reservations by specific
2 declarations of "set-aside" approved by the President.
3 Originally Indian Reservations were created by treaty
4 between a recognized tribe of Indians and the United 5 States, the terms of which designated, reserved or set
6 aside lands for specific Indian tribes. These treaties
7 would be executed by the United States and the tribal
8 government and usually were made in exchange for lands
9 being ceded to the United States by these same tribal 10 governments. Essential to the creation of an Indian
11 reservation was the government to government agreements
12 between an acknowledged tribal government and the 13 United States. Congress was originally given authority
14 to deal with Indian tribes by the U.S. Constitution Art
15 I section 8.
18 19
20

21 In 1864 Congress passed an act that established
22 and limited to, only four (4) Indian reservations in 23 California. See the California Reservation Act of 24 April 8, 1864, 13 Stat. 39. See also Mattz v. Arnett
25 [1973] 412 U.S. 481, 489.
26
27
28

1 On 3 March 1871 Congress enacted a law prohibiting
2 the further creation and execution of any more treaties
3 with Indian tribes. Following that Act, however, the 4 President was empowered from time to time to create
5 special, temporary set asides of land for Indian tribes
6 pending implementation of the Dawes Act. The Dawes Act
7 sought to allot parcels of reservation lands to 8 individual Indians and families by their tribal 9 governments with a view to assimilate Indians into 10 American society. Once all parcels of a reservation's
11 land were allocated by the tribal government to its 12 members, the "tribe" and the tribal government ceased
13 to exist as a political entity. [See 25 U.S.C. 345]
14 There were only 18 Presidential set asides for Indians
15 in California and almost all were created in the 16 Southern part of the state as a result of the Mission
17 Indian Relief Act of 1891. [26 Stat. 712]
19 20
21
22
23

24 From time to time Congress would make special 25 appropriations of funds to acquire temporary lands for 26 the use and occupation of homeless or itinerant
27

1 individual Indians or families not of any particular
2 tribe. In 1921 Individual Indians were made full
3 citizens of the United States.

5 [See also for examples the Act of June 30, 1919
6 which provides at sec. 27. "That hereafter no public
7 lands of the United States shall be withdrawn by 8 Executive Order, proclamation, or otherwise, for, or as 9 an Indian Reservation except by Act of Congress." [See
10 Charles Kappler's Indian Affairs: Laws and Treaties,
11 vol. IV pages 225 and 936] There was no reservation
12 status to the fee lands procured for homeless Indians
13 as "Rancherias".

15 The various Rancheria appropriation Acts were 16 enactments clearly for the relief of homeless Indians
17 NOT a creation of any reservations or for any 18 identifiable and acknowledged Indian tribe or tribal 19 government. See the original 1960 Opinion of the 20 United States Solicitor [PRJN #46] and the published
21 opinion at 1883 Opinions of the Solicitor August 1, 22 1960. If there was any thread of reservation status to 23
25
26
27
28

1 fee owned Rancheria lands, any attempt by the Secretary
2 of D.O.I. to convey such lands to individual Indians
3 after the 1934 enactment of the I.R.A. [25 U.S.C. 465
4 et. seq.] would be direct violations of that Act except
5 as provided for in section 4 or as an exempt transfer
6 provided for in section 8.

9 In addition during this period between 1880 and 10 1930 Congress enacted and implemented the Indian 11 Homestead Act allowing Indians to acquire tracts of 12 land from the public domain using essentially the same
13 process as that used for homesteading public domain
14 lands by non-Indians.

17 In 1934 Congress enacted the Indian Reorganization
18 Act 25 U.S.C. 465 et. seq. giving authority to the 19 Secretary of Interior to acquire lands in trust to re-
20 establish previously recognized and acknowledged Indian
21 tribes and their governments and to promote Indian 22 tribal self-sufficiency. Rancherias were not purchased 23 in the name of any tribe or to be held "in trust" for 24 any tribe or any particular named individual, bands,
27
28

1 communities or groups of Indians. [See the discussion
2 in the recent Supreme Court case of Carcieri v. Salazar
3 [2009] 129 S.Ct. 1058, 172 L.Ed.2d 791.]

5 Under the Rancheria Act, these lands, owned by the 6 U.S. in fee, were to be given for free to the current 7 occupants and assignees except in some cases the 8 federal government had agreed to make certain
9 improvements to roads and utilities on the Rancherias
10 and to provide other forms of aid and benefits to the 11 assignees receiving distribution of the lands. In some 12 cases these agreements, promises and obligations were 13 apparently breached by the United States. The Oliver
14 family, in residence on the Buena Vista fee lands under 15 informal assignment at the time, had no such agreements
16 to make improvements and had previously, asked the 17 D.O.I. for fee patent to the land. [PRJN #6] There
18 were no remaining obligations by the United States
19 involved in the distribution of the Buena Vista land to 20 the Olivers nor had they complained of any.
23
24
25
26
27
28

1       The Department of Interior [D.O.I.] then informed
2 the Olivers by letter the land was theirs, unrestricted
3 in any way to do with it as they liked. [PRJN #6] They 4 mortgaged it the following year.

6       Assuming for the sake of argument that the June 7 30, 2005 opinion letter of Penny Coleman [PRJN 32] was 8 correct, that is that Rancherias, like Buena Vista,
9 were somehow "like reservations," then whatever shred
10 of that status that may have existed was eliminated by 11 the voluntary de-establishment by the assignees, first 12 in the initial conveyance of the grant deed from the 13 U.S. to them, or later when they elected not to avail
14 themselves of the 2-year re-conveyance option created 15 by the Tillie-Hardwick stipulated judgment. Tribes can 16 also voluntarily dis-establish reservations. [See for 17 example State of Wisconsin v. Stockbridge-Munsee
18 Community [2009] 554 F.3d 657.] In addition former 19 trust property can be transmuted to fee simple property
20 free of trust by being processed through state court
21 probate proceedings. [See for example the I.B.I.A.

26
27
28

1 decision in Ruth Pinto Lewis v. Eastern Navajo
2 Superintendent 4 I.B.I.A. 147.

3 It is clear that neither the Secretary nor the 4 N.I.G.C. is empowered to materially vary the 5 requirements of the I.G.R.A. through an administrative 6 fiat. See Texas v. United States [Kickapoo Traditional 7 Tribe Real Party in Interest] (CA Fifth Circ. Texas
8 2007) 497 F.3d 491.

11 Judge Williams was quite careful in his approval
12 of the 1983 stipulated judgment in the Tillie-Hardwick
13 case. With regard to any tribal entity he neither 14 restored or created anything specific. Rather he 15 restored any such entity to whatever status they had 16 before distribution and termination under the Rancheria
17 Act as determined by the applicable federal laws.
18
20

21 Similarly in approving the second stipulation of 22 14 May 1987 affecting only County governments and 23 County issues, he did not require the joinder of the 24 United States in that stipulation. That is because 25 neither the County nor its attorney or Plaintiffs and 26 their attorneys had any authority to affect or create 27
28

1 Indian tribes or reservations or Indian lands of any 2 kind except as provided by existing federal law and 3 processes.

4       The federal court only retained jurisdiction,
5 following the 1983 stipulated judgment, for purposes of 6 waiting too see if any of the Plaintiffs elected to 7 convey their fee lands they received by distribution,
8 back to the United States in trust and whether the 9 boundaries of a particular Rancheria needed to be reset
10 after that or re-established once it was determined
11 what lands went back to trust and what lands were kept 12 by the fee owner distributees.

13       Once the last of the Oliver estates closed,
14 DonnaMarie Potts ultimately became the sole owner in 15 fee of the fractionated interests in the land. She then 16 purported to deed the land to a fictitious Indian 17 tribal entity she had previously named the "Buena Vista 18 Rancheria of Me-Wuk Indians",<sup>8</sup> although she apparently 19 was a Maidu Indian herself. She then (purportedly on 20 behalf of this "Buena Vista Rancheria tribe") attempted

3 by the D.O.I. [PRJN #28]

5 B. THE ELEVENTH AMENDMENT TO THE U.S.
6 CONSTITUTION DOES NOT GIVE THE GOVERNOR OR THE STATE
7 AND IT'S OFFICERS IMMUNITY FROM ULTRA VIRES ACTS

9 As set out in Artichoke Joes Grand Casino v.
10 Governor Gray Davis [2002] 261 F.Supp.2d 1084 illegal
11 and ultra vires acts cannot be shielded by the claims
12 of Eleventh Amendment legal immunity.

14 It is undisputed that to be eligible for either
15 class II or class III gaming under the I.G.R.A. the 16 gaming operation must be located on land defined as 17 eligible "Indian Lands" by the I.G.R.A. [25 USC 2703
18 and 2719] The Buena Vista land has always been fee
19 lands and was never an Indian "reservation," is not 20 now, and never has been held, "in trust" and was never 21 subjected to restriction or control by the federal 22 government since it was deeded in fee to the Olivers in 23 1959.
25
26
27
28

1 If, as claimed in the Penny Coleman opinion letter
2 of June 30, 2005, the Buena Vista land had somehow been 3 a "reservation", or rather more accurately "like a
4 reservation", prior to it's being deeded in fee to the 5 Olivers, why would there have been any need for a
6 provision in the Tille-Hardwick stipulated judgment
7 creating an election for those individuals like the 8 Olivers (or their descendents) to have the fee land 9 they were deeded, reconveyed back into "trust" if they
10 elected to do so within the two year period provided?

14 A true Indian reservation is the broadest category of 15 Indian Lands which subsumes any benefit or advantage
16 that might have been obtained had the Olivers elected 17 to convey their fee land back to the United States in 18 trust?<sup>9</sup>

21 Similarly if there actually ever was any entity or 22 group called the "Buena Vista Rancheria of Me-Wuk
23 Indians" before DonnaMarie Potts created this name out
24 of whole cloth why is there is no record of any such an

27 _____

1 entity before 1986. The large volume of documents and 2 correspondence, some of which is contained in 3 Plaintiffs request for Judicial Notice, never makes 4 historical reference to, nor do they contain any 5 evidence of any tribe or band by the name "Buena Vista 6 Rancheria of Me-Wuk Indians" dating back to 1900, as is 7 required by law for lawful recognition. [See 25 C.F.R.
8 part 83 and the former 25 C.F.R. part 54 all required a
9 substantial, unambiguous history of tribal government
10 to government relations between the United States
11 government and the government of any tribe, band or 12 community of Indians dating back many years, usually to 13 1900.]

14 These are all matters of public record which were 15 easily obtainable or discoverable by the State
16 defendants by the exercise of diligence prior to 17 approving the 1999 compact with DonnaMarie Potts to 18 allow casino gambling on ineligible land as they did 19 here without verifying either the status of the land or 20 legitimacy of the "tribe." In fact, the status of the 21

1 land at Buena Vista should have been addressed as part
2 of the Tribal Environmental Impact Report (TEIR)
3 required by the state as part of the compacting
4 process. [See for example 25 C.F.R. 502.22 and in 5 particular 25 C.F.R. 559.1] [See also the letter from 6 attorneys Hanson & Bridgett submitted as comments on 7 the proposed TEIR on behalf of Plaintiffs herein.

10 In Artichoke Joe's California Grand Casino v. Gail
11 Norton, U.S.A. Governor Gray Davis, California et.al.
12 [9th Circuit C.A. 2002] 355 Fed.3d 712, the Ninth 13 Circuit upheld the trial court decision that the 14 I.G.R.A. and California's Constitution could lawfully
15 discriminate in favor of Indian tribes over non-Indians
16 in the area of casino style gambling.
19

20 In the course of reaching that holding the court
21 described the I.G.R.A. as a federal law which enabled 22 States to impose certain state laws on Indian lands in 23 the area of gambling activities and which the court
24 classified or described as a "vice" much like alcohol
25 and cigarettes. This was permitted because Congress
26
27
28

1 empowered the States to regulate various aspects of 2 Indian gambling activities through the compacting
3 process I.G.R.A. 25 USC 2710 d. Were that not the 4 case, class III Indian gambling would be wholly 5 unregulated. [See Colorado River Indians v.
6 Commissioner Hogen N.I.G.C. [2007] 466 F.3d 134. The 7 court in Artichoke Joe's found, that matters which 8 touched on the public health and safety, like gambling,
9 were matters clearly of state concern. They put it
10 this way:
13

14
15 "...in Washington v. Confederated Bands &
16 Tribes of Yakima Indian Nation, 439 U.S. 463, 17 99 S.Ct. 740, 58 L.Ed.2d 740 (1979) ("Yakima 18 III"), the Supreme Court described the
19 circumstances in which rational-basis review
20 applies to Indian-related state laws. The 21 Court applied rational-basis review to an
22 equal protection challenge to a state law
23 where federal legislation extended that law
24 into Indian country."

25 and

26 "As a constitutional matter, the state
27 interests that justify, as a valid exercise
28 of a state's police power, California's restriction of class III gaming operations to those conducted by Indian tribes on Indian

1 lands are absent in the field of general
2 commercial activities. Most economic
3 activities historically have not been deemed 4 harmful. Thus, we do not believe that
5 Plaintiffs' parade of horrors - tribal 6 monopolies on automobile dealerships, for 7 example - is a likely consequence of our
8 conclusion that legitimate state interests
9 support a restriction of casino-style
10 gambling to Indian lands. Of course, in this 11 case we need not and do not decide whether 12 states constitutionally could grant tribes
13 exclusive rights to conduct enterprises other
14 than casino gambling.

15 Were the tribal lands a political 16 subdivision of the State, California's
17 exemption of tribal lands from its state-wide
18 prohibition on class III gaming activities
19 easily would withstand constitutional
20 scrutiny. When enacting substantive
21 regulations or prohibitions of vice 22 activities, the interests implicated lie "at 23 the heart of the state's police power."
24 Helton, 330 F.3d at 246."

25 The court iterated at least a dozen times, during 26 their decision in this case, that such gambling
27 activity sanctioned or permitted by California's 28 amended Constitution Art. 4 section 19 [amended by 29 Proposition 1-A] were to permit such gambling only on 30 "Indian Lands". The Plaintiffs in that case had sued
31 the federal defendants and State defendants in District

1 Court much as Plaintiffs have done here. Also, as the 2 State has done here, they made a Motion in the trial
3 court to Dismiss Plaintiffs complaint there on many of 4 the same grounds they have raised in this Motion. See
5 Artichoke Joe's Grand Casino v. Gale Norton, Gray

7 Davis, Bill Lockyer, et.al. 216 F.Supp.2d 1084 supra.

9 In a detailed analysis, the trial court found that the 10 State defendants were proper parties and refused to 11 dismiss them. In deciding that lengthy case before the 12 District Court, the court made a number of points
13 material to this present case. The following excerpts
14 are some of those points.

17 "Finally, IGRA explicitly prohibits gaming on 18 lands taken into trust for the benefit of a 19 tribe after October 17, 1988. Id. §2719(a).
20 This restriction does not apply, however, if 21 the Secretary, having consulted with tribal 22 and state and local officials, and having 23 secured the agreement of the Governor,
24 determines that gaming on the newly acquired lands would benefit the tribe and would not be detrimental to the surrounding community."

25 and further;

26
27 "The State Gaming Agency, defined as the 28 "entities authorized to investigate, approve,

1 and regulate gaming licenses" under Cal. Bus.
2 & Profs. Code § 19800 et seq., includes the 3 California Gambling Control Commission and 4 the Division of Gambling Control in the 5 California Department of Justice. Id. at 6 §2.18; Cal. Bus. & Profs. Code §§ 19809,
7 19810A. Members of the Commission are 8 appointed by the Governor, subject to 9 confirmation by the State Senate, and serve
10 four year terms. Cal. Bus. & Profs. Code
11 §19812A."

13 "Also, because California prohibits class III
14 gaming under Cal. Cons. Art. IV, sec 19(e),
15 and Cal. Penal Code §§ 330, 330a, 330b,
16 California voters must approve the California
17 Senate's proposed Constitutional Amendment 11
18 ("Proposition 1A"), that would permit the
19 Governor to enter into class III gaming
20 compacts, thereby exempting Indian tribes
21 from the general prohibition on gaming. Id.
22 at §11.1."

23 furthermore;

24 "With respect to the existing compacts and 25 the Governor, the Plaintiffs have properly
26 alleged an injury in fact which could merit
27 declaratory relief under the Declaratory
28 Judgment Act, 22 U.S.C. §§ 2201 et.seq.
Plaintiffs allege both a violation of their right to equal protection of the laws and economic injury. Together these allegations form an adequate basis for standing to seek declaratory relief."

1 furthermore;

3 "With respect to count II of the complaint,
4 Plaintiffs' claim against the Governor
5 satisfies the causation requirement because 6 the Governor approved the compacts that gave 7 rise to the Plaintiffs' injuries ... It is 8 enough that his past approval of the compacts
9 caused the Plaintiffs' alleged injuries."

10 furthermore;

11 "Also, because California prohibits class III
12 gaming under Cal. Cons. Art. IV, sec 19(e),
13 and Cal. Penal Code §§ 330, 330a, 330b,
14 California voters must approve the California
15 Senate's proposed Constitutional Amendment 11
16 ("Proposition 1A"), that would permit the
17 Governor to enter into class III gaming
18 compacts, thereby exempting Indian tribes
19 from the general prohibition on gaming. Id.
20 at §11.1."

21 furthermore;

22 "The Governor is a proper party to suit under 23 the Young doctrine because the Plaintiffs'
24 claims are "not based on any general duty to 25 enforce state law." Id. Rather, the Governor 26 is alleged to have "a specific connection to 27 the challenged statute." Id. Indeed, for the 28 same reasons that the governor is claimed to have caused the Plaintiffs' alleged injuries for purposes of Article III standing, he is also a proper defendant under Young: The Governor negotiated and approved the compacts

1           that give rise to the Plaintiffs' alleged 2           injuries."

3           furthermore;

5           "Nor have the federal defendants demonstrated 6           that the Plaintiffs' APA claims would 7           undermine IGRA or the Johnson Act. Noticeably
8           absent from the list of IGRA-created remedies
9           is one that addresses the type of claim
10          brought by the Plaintiffs - a mechanism for 11          challenging the Secretary's approval of a 12          compact on the basis that the compact
13          violates IGRA."

14          The state defendants claim here that the Eleventh
15          Amendment bars all claims made by Plaintiffs for relief
16          against the State and its officers. These Plaintiffs,
17          however, are NOT citizens of another State or a foreign 18          country. They are United States citizens and citizens of 19          the State of California, living and working in Amador
20          County and are entitled to file suit against their own
21          government for acts inimical to their health and 22          welfare. [See California Constitution Art. 3 sec. 5.]

24          Although Art. 3 section 5 of the California
25          Constitution is not necessarily a waiver of Eleventh
26          Amendment immunity, a suit by citizens for declaratory
27          immunity, a suit by citizens for declaratory
28

1 relief and mandamus (or prohibition) is generally not
2 considered to be barred and is the kind of lawsuits
3 authorized by Art 3 section 5. [See Los Angeles County
4 v. State Dept. of Public Health [1958] 158 Cal.App.2d
5 425, 322 P.2d 968.]

7 Plaintiffs have alleged in their complaint that 8 the governor unlawfully approved and executed a tribal-9 state compact at a specific ineligible site in the 10 County of Amador at Buena Vista in violation of the 11 California Constitution Art. 4 section 19 and executed
12 and adopted a tribal-state compact pursuant to 25 USC
13 2710 d.<sup>10</sup> Plaintiffs have further alleged that it was 14 erroneous and unlawful to have approved the compact 15 allowing a casino development to move forward to 16 fulfillment and to imminent completion which is made
17 possible by the State's approval. That State approval
18 was an ultra vires act. [See EX PARTE YOUNG [1908] 209
19 U.S. 123]

28 <sup>10</sup> California Constitution does not contain a definition of Indian lands to which Art. 4 sec. 19(e) applies.

1 This action is one primarily seeking declaratory
2 relief to determine the legality and eligibility for 3 gaming on the Buena Vista lands under the I.G.R.A.'s
4 compacting requirements set out in 25 USC 2710 d (3)
5 and pursuant to California's Constitution Art. 4 sec.
6 19 (f) permitting gambling operations and activities
7 only on "Indian Lands." Art. 4 section 19 f provides

10
11 "(f) Notwithstanding subdivisions (a) and 12 (e), and any other provision of state law,
13 the Governor is authorized to negotiate and 14 conclude compacts, subject to ratification by 15 the Legislature, for the operation of slot
16 machines and for the conduct of lottery games
17 and banking and percentage card games by 18 federally recognized Indian tribes on Indian lands in California in accordance with federal law. [emphasis added by italics]

19 The original 1999 Gray Davis compact in this case, was 20 executed by DonnaMarie Potts who was not even a lawful
21 representative of any "Buena Vista Rancheria of Me-Wuk 22 Indians." Even assuming she had lawfully fulfilled the 23 requirements of 25 CFR part 83 to obtain federal 24 acknowledgment, which is disputed, it is clear she had 25 no lawful authority to submit a gambling ordinance or 26
28

1 execute a tribal-state compact which would require
2 approval of at least a majority of the lawful enrolled
3 members of such a tribe. The governor's amendment to 4 that compact in 2004 and the subsequent approval of the 5 State required TEIR in 2007 required to be part of the 6 compact does not remedy the fact the compact was void
7 ab initio nor does that unlawful approval somehow
8 render the Buena Vista lands eligible "Indian Lands."
9 Neither does it excuse the Governor's non-compliance
10 with the procedures mandated by 25 USC 2719 and 25
11 C.F.R. section 20 rules requiring special findings by 12 the Governor in light of the prima facie showing the 13 Buena Vista land was acquired in 1996.

14 Plaintiffs F.O.A.C. seek no damages nor 15 retroactive relief other than the Declaratory Judgment
16 voiding the current compact and then imposing such 17 injunctive relief as would be appropriate once
18 Declaratory Judgment was entered to establish if the 19 Buena Vista land is eligible for gaming or not, and 20 further that the putative tribe, the "Buena Vista 21 Rancheria of Me-Wuk Indians" was lawfully organized and 22

1 meets the 25 C.F.R. part 83 criteria for federal
2 acknowledgement. Plaintiffs Crabtree and Geary seek 3 only to have any state or federal funds being paid over
4 to DonnaMarie Potts or Rhonda Pope paid into court,
5 pendente lite, to preserve the status quo until a
6 determination is made whether the tribal organization
7 by DonnaMarie Potts, that led to a purported federal 8 acknowledgement and recognition of her and her two 9 children as the "Buena Vista Rancheria of Me-Wuk
10 Indians," is determined to comply with 25 CFR 83.
12

13
14 Moreover, Plaintiffs Bea Crabtree and June Geary,
15 as the lawful descendants of the heretofore un-
16 organized community of Indians and assignees formerly 17 occupying the rancheria lands at Buena Vista, seek to 18 determine under what lawful authority a non-Indian New 19 York casino developer named Wilmot and his company and 20 the federal defendants had to "settle" a tribal 21 enrollment lawsuit by stipulation, one which Plaintiffs 22 were not parties to or even had notice of.
25
26
27
28

1           C.    THE ARGUMENT THAT PLAINTIFFS' COMPLAINT SHOULD 2 BE DISMISSED BECAUSE THEY ARE PRECLUDED FROM SUING ON 3 THE COMPACT WHICH PROHIBITS THIRD PARTY SUITS, IS 4 MERITLESS

6           Plaintiffs' complaint does not sound or purport to 7 sound in the compact, nor any of its terms and 8 conditions therein. Neither do Plaintiffs assert rights
9 arising under the contract. Their allegations here are 10 essentially that there never should have been any 11 compact authorizing Indian gaming operations at the 12 site specific fee lands at Buena Vista as a matter of 13 federal and state law. As set out above, the gravamen
14 of their complaint is in the requirements and rules
15 created by federal law, the I.G.R.A., the 16 Administrative Procedures Act 5 USC 702 et.seq. and 17 various sections in 25 Code of Federal Regulations as 18 well as State law, Art. 4 section 19 of the California
19 Constitution have not been met or have been violated.
22
23
24

25           Every compact must be lawfully in affect under 26 state law before Indian gaming is allowed. [See 27 USC
27
28

1 2710 d (3).] [See also Pueblo of Santa Ana v. Kelly 129
2 F.3d 535.]

5 D. THE PUTATIVE "BUENA VISTA TRIBE" IS NOT A
6 REQUIRED PARTY WHOSE ABSENCE PREVENTS THE DECLARATORY
7 JUDGMENT SOUGHT

9 The state defendants contend further that 10 Plaintiffs' complaint must be dismissed for failing to 11 join a Required and Indispensable party. Originally 12 federal rules of civil procedure required dismissal for 13 failure to join necessary and indispensable parties.
14 Following several case decisions discussing this issue
15 the rule of Federal Procedure was amended to use the 16 more accurate term "required party."

18 That is because the key to its application is, that 19 if the absent party is NOT required to be present or 20 participate in order to resolve the issues raised by a 21 complaint then they are neither required, necessary, or 22 indispensable to the case. The federal and state
23 defendants were all informed and repeatedly appraised of 24 the facts and reasons why the land at Buena Vista is not
26
27
28

1 and never was eligible for gaming under the I.G.R.A. or 2 Art. 4 section 19 of the California Constitution. Both
3 the State and federal defendants are capable of 4 adequately representing the interest of the tribe and 5 that interest is the establishment of either the lawful
6 or unlawful nature of the compact and Declaratory
7 Judgment determining whether the Buena Vista land is in 8 fact eligible by law for class II or class III gaming.
10 There is no conflict as between the State or federal 11 defendants nor the putative tribe. In fact the issues
12 are identical to the interests of both the federal and 13 state governments and the tribe. See Shermoen v. United 14 States [9th Circ. 1992] 982 F.2d 1312.

17
18 Merely having a legal or financial interest in the 19 outcome of litigation does not make one a required
20 party to the determination of the legal issues
21 involved, particularly where the action is one for 22 Declaratory Relief. See Makah Indian Tribe v. Verity
23 [9th Circ. CA 1990] 910 F.2d 555.

25
26 As set out above the key question for 27 jurisdictional determination purposes is whether the 28

1 tribe's participation is required to determine if the 2 Buena Vista land is eligible for gaming pursuant to the 3 IGRA. Where the entire relevant history of the land
4 and its status is now before this court and it is the 5 federal and state defendants who are required to 6 explain and justify how they concluded it was in fact
7 eligible for gaming under either 25 USC 2703 or was not 8 prohibited by 25 USC 2719. And it is up to them to 9 explain why they did not follow the required specific 10 joint procedures and determinations required under 25
11 USC 2719 for exempting land acquired after October 1988
12 as the Buena Vista land was.

14 Defendants only raise the issue of joinder of the 15 tribe so they can claim an Indian tribe cannot be 16 joined because of the common law tribal sovereign
17 immunity doctrine and make no effort to demonstrate 18 what "inconsistent" events they would be subjected to.

20 The I.G.R.A. and the Amended California
21 Constitution Art 4 section 19 provide a clear interplay
22 between federal and state laws. Artichoke Joe's v.
23 Norton 353 F.3d 712 supra. Where, as here, the state

1 and its officers and the federal government and its
2 officials have failed and neglected to do their 3 statutory duty, or in the course of those duties have 4 engaged in ultra vires acts not authorized by law, this
5 court has jurisdiction over them both. EX PARTE YOUNG 6 [1903] 209 U.S. 123 supra. See also Larson v. Domestic 7 & Foreign Corp. [1949] 337 U.S. 682, 69 S.Ct. 1457 93
8 L.Ed. 1628 supra and Boisclair v. Superior Court, 51
9 Cal.3d 1140 supra.

10 In this case all the Defendants were required to 11 insure that before approving a very site-specific 12 gambling casino to be located in Amador County near 13 another existing Indian casino at Jackson, that they 14 require it be on eligible Indian Lands beforehand. The 15 residents of Amador County are the persons negatively
16 impacted by the numerous imminent detrimental impacts
17 of the unlawfully approved casino in their community.

24 IV. CONCLUSION

25 The land at Buena Vista is not now and never has 26 been eligible Indian lands upon which the acknowledged
27

1 "vice" of casino gambling is allowed. The imminent
2 construction of such a casino will negatively impact
3 the Plaintiffs in several particulars. Those negative
4 impacts will be remediated by a Declaratory Judgment
5 finding that land ineligible for such a casino.

7 Contrary to Defendants assertions the Eleventh
8 amendment of the United States Constitution does not 9 give the state and its officers immunity from complying
10 with the mandates of 25 USC 2703 that all Indian gaming
11 be on eligible "Indian Lands" and the prohibition set 12 out in 25 USC 2719 precludes the Buena Vista casino.
13

14 The Eleventh Amendment protect them from lawsuit by the 15 citizens of this state from challenging the State and 16 governor's failure to comply with 25 USC 2719 and 25
17 CFR 502.12. Where the record is clear the putative
18 tribe of 3 people calling itself the "Buena Vista 19 Rancheria of Me-Wuk Indians" acquired fee title to the 20 land in May 1996, some 8 years after the cut-off date
21 of October 1988. Plaintiffs have a legal right and 22 have standing to challenge the state's failure and 23
25
26
27
28

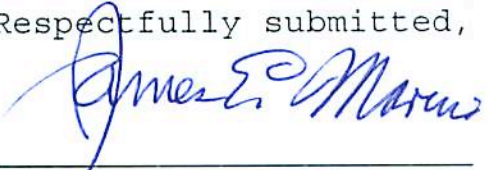

1 have standing to challenge the state's failure and
2 refusal to abide by the applicable law and to commit
3 the ultra vires acts of entering into a gaming compact.

5 Plaintiffs do not sue under the terms and 6 conditions of the compact but rather challenge the 7 legal authority of the Governor and the State to have 8 entered into that compact in the first place. The
10 "tribe" here is not a required party.

11 The relevant issues in this lawsuit can be 12 determined and decided without the participation of the 13 putative tribe even though they may have a monetary
14 interest in the outcome.

16 The State Defendants Motion to Dismiss should be 17 denied.

20 21 Respectfully submitted,
