

SEPTEMBER 10-12, 2014

WIND RIVER HOTEL AND CASINO
RIVERTON, WYOMING

I. INTRODUCTION

The Big Horn River general stream adjudication was initiated by the Wyoming legislature in January 1977 in response to an assertion of water rights in the Wind-Big Horn River system by the Eastern Shoshone and Northern Arapaho tribes. The adjudication is currently poised to reach its conclusion later this year. The Wyoming District Court is expected to enter a final decree in the adjudication, which reviewed water claims held by over 20,000 parties within the Big Horn Basin. This complex and often contentious proceeding has now spanned thirty-seven years. It has been visible regionally and nationally, prompting two seminal opinions by the Wyoming Supreme Court as well as one closely watched decision by the U.S. Supreme Court, all of which involved water rights held by the two tribes located on the Wind River Reservation in the southwest corner of the basin. Constituting a landmark in the fields of western water law and American Indian law, the University of Wyoming (UW) College of Law is proud and excited to be hosting a symposium focusing on the Big Horn River general stream adjudication from September 10-12, 2014, at the Wind River Hotel and Casino in Riverton, Wyoming.

The symposium will be organized into four parts. First, a retrospective session will examine the chronology and features of the Big Horn River adjudication. Next, a comparative session will consider the Big Horn River adjudication alongside general stream adjudications that have occurred in other western states over the past several decades, including in Arizona, Idaho, Montana, and New Mexico. Following these sessions, a field trip will familiarize attendees with issues on the Big Horn River system, as illustrated by one stretch of canal. Finally, a prospective session will examine the future impacts of the adjudication within Wyoming as well as the future role to be played by general stream adjudications such as Big Horn in western water management. Opening and closing addresses will bookend these four parts.

II. OVERVIEW

Opening Address. An opening address will be delivered by western writer and television producer Geoff O’Gara—author of What You See in Clear Water: Indians, Whites, and a Battle Over Water in the American West. Mr. O’Gara will offer a broad-based perspective on the context in which the Big Horn River adjudication has occurred and its significance today.

Part I: Retrospective Session

Following the opening address, Special Master Ramsey Kropf will provide an overview of the Big Horn River adjudication’s three phases—which addressed tribal, federal, and state rights, respectively—and moderate a panel discussion by individuals involved in the litigation.

Part II: Comparative Session

John Thorson will then fit the Big Horn River adjudication within the broader pattern of general stream adjudications that have occurred across the American West over the past four decades. Mr. Thorson currently serves as Federal Water Master of the Lummi Decree (W.D. Wash.), and is a retired Administrative Law Judge from California, as well as the former Special Master in the Gila River and Little Colorado River adjudications. After this overview, Mr.

Thorson will moderate a panel composed of individuals involved in adjudications that have taken place in four other western states: the Snake River Basin adjudication in Idaho, the Gila River adjudication in Arizona, and the statewide adjudications in Montana and New Mexico.

Part III: Field Trip

A several-hour narrated trip to the Ray Canal system on the Wind River Indian Reservation will end the first day. This canal system hosts three key kinds of water rights recognized in the Big Horn River adjudication, with different priority dates and resulting administrative issues. Issues of independent tribal administration, and a comparison of federal investment in non-tribal irrigation, will be highlighted.

Part IV: Prospective Session

An intrastate panel will begin the second day, building on the field trip and addressing future challenges that the Big Horn River adjudication poses within Wyoming. It will look at management options and possible joint water planning. Then a regional panel of academics and water professionals will examine the role general stream adjudications play in contemporary western water management. Panelists will discuss the purposes motivating general stream adjudications, the extent to which these purposes have been achieved, and possible alternative approaches to resolving competing water claims that might better meet present-day needs.

Closing Addresses. Drawing the program to a close will be a series of three keynote addresses delivered by federal, state, and tribal speakers. The federal keynoter will be Ms. Jennifer Gimbel, Deputy Commissioner for External and Intergovernmental Affairs, U.S. Bureau of Reclamation. Providing a tribal perspective will be Mr. John Washakie, Library Cultural Specialist, Fort Washakie School, and member of the Eastern Shoshone tribe. Arrangements are currently being finalized for the state keynote speaker.

III. SCHEDULE & ROSTER

Wednesday, September 10

6:00-8:30 p.m. Welcome Reception

Thursday, September 11

8:00-8:15 a.m. Symposium Introduction

8:15-9:00 a.m. Opening Address by Geoff O’Gara, Author, What You See in Clear Water: Indians, Whites, and a Battle Over Water in the American West

9:00-9:30 a.m. Big Horn River Adjudication Overview: Special Master Ramsey Kropf

9:30-9:45 a.m. Break

9:45-11:15 a.m. Retrospective Panel

- Moderator: Ramsey Kropf, Special Master, Big Horn River Adjudication
- Gordon W. (Jeff) Fassett, former Wyoming State Engineer
- Nancy McCann, Big Horn General Adjudication Manager, Wyoming State Engineer's Office
- John Schumacher, Attorney, White & White, PC, Riverton, WY
- Susan Williams, Attorney, Law Office of Susan Williams, Corrales, NM
- Jim Dubois (invited), Attorney, U.S. Dept. of Justice, Env't and Nat. Resources Division

11:15-11:45 a.m. Regional Adjudication Overview: Federal Water Master John Thorson

11:45 a.m.-12:45 p.m. Lunch

12:45-2:30 p.m. Comparative Panel

- Moderator: John Thorson, Federal Water Master, Lummi Decree (W.D. Wash.)
- Hon. Bruce Lobel, former Chief Water Judge, Montana Water Court
- Jane Marx, Attorney at Law, PC, Albuquerque, NM
- Clive Strong, Natural Resources Division Chief, Idaho Attorney General's Office
- John Weldon, Salmon, Lewis & Weldon, PLC, Phoenix, AZ

2:30-6:00 p.m. Field Trip: Ray Canal System

- Narrator: Gary Collins, Northern Arapaho Liaison, former Joint Tribal Water Engineer
- Narrator: James Pogue, Tribal Water Resource Technician
- Narrator: Baptiste Weed, Deputy Tribal Water Engineer

6:30-8:00 p.m. Dinner Reception

Friday, September 12

8:00-10:00 a.m. Prospective Intrastate Panel

- Moderator: Anne MacKinnon, Attorney & Adjunct Professor, UW Haub School
- John Anevski, Water Resources Supervisor, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Billings Office
- Mitch Cottenoir, Joint Tribal Water Engineer
- Sara Robinson, former Eastern Shoshone Liaison
- Coleman Smith, Area Manager, Bureau of Reclamation, Wyoming Area Office
- Pat Tyrrell, Wyoming State Engineer
- Amy Cordalis (invited), Attorney, Berkey Williams LLP, Berkeley, CA

10:00-10:15 a.m. Break

10:15-11:45 a.m. Prospective Regional Panel

- Moderator: Jason Robison, Assistant Professor, UW College of Law
- Michelle Bryan Mudd, Associate Professor, University of Montana School of Law
- Barbara Cosens, Professor of Law, University of Idaho College of Law
- Burke Griggs, Consulting Professor, Bill Lane Center for the American West, Stanford
- Hon. Marilyn Kite, Chief Justice, Wyoming Supreme Court
- Larry MacDonnell, Adjunct Professor, University of Colorado Law School

11:45 a.m.-1:00 p.m. Lunch

1:00-2:00 p.m. Closing Addresses

- Jennifer Gimbel, Deputy Commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation
- John Washakie, Library Cultural Specialist, Fort Washakie School
- State of Wyoming keynote speaker currently pending.

IV. SYMPOSIUM SPONSORS

- Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation (<https://www.rmmlf.org/>)
- UW Department of Agricultural & Applied Economics (<http://www.uwyo.edu/agecon/>)
- UW American Heritage Center (<http://www.uwyo.edu/ahc/>)
- UW American Indian Studies Program (<http://www.uwyo.edu/aist/>)
- UW Department of Ecosystem Science & Management (<http://www.uwyo.edu/esm/>)
- UW College of Engineering & Applied Science (<http://www.uwyo.edu/ceas/>)
- UW Department of Geography (<http://www.uwyo.edu/geography/>)
- UW Haub School of Environment & Natural Resources (<http://www.uwyo.edu/haub/>)
- UW Department of History (<http://www.uwyo.edu/history/>)
- UW Hydrology Program (<http://www.uwyo.edu/ware/>; <http://www.uwyo.edu/wrese/>)
- UW College of Law (<http://www.uwyo.edu/law/>)
- UW Stroock Forum on Wyoming Lands & People (<http://www.uwyo.edu/econfin/research/stroockforum/>)
- UW Office of Water Programs (<http://www.uwyo.edu/owp/>)
- UW Water Resources Data System (<http://www.wrds.uwyo.edu/>)

V. REGISTRATION & LODGING

A registration fee is not currently planned for the symposium. We anticipate the event will be free and open to the public. Online registration will be necessary, however, and will be possible through the Wyoming Law Review's webpage (<http://www.uwyo.edu/law/wyoming-law-review/>) in early July. CLE accreditation information also will be available at this time. Lodging will be at the symposium facility: Wind River Hotel & Casino (<http://www.windriverhotelcasino.com/>). A nightly room rate of $77 plus 3% tax has been negotiated for attendees.