ARGUMENT

The Court Should Admit the Declaration and Report of Dr. Alan P. Meister Because they Demonstrate that Federal Defendants Completely Ignored Relevant Area of Socioeconomic Inquiry that Congress intended them to Consider under NEPA and IGRA

Generally, review of the Department's EIS and decision "is limited to the administrative 4 5 record and may only be expanded beyond the record to explain agency decisions," not to determine 6 the correctness of the agency's decision. Northwest Envtl. Advocates v. Nat'l Marine Fisheries Serv., 7 460 F.3d 1125, 1144 (9th Cir. 2006). However, the Court should not "straightjacket" itself with the 8 administrative record. Asarco, Inc. v. U.S. Envtl. Prot. Agency, 616 F.2d 1153, 1160 (9th Cir. 1980) 9 ("The court cannot adequately discharge its duty to engage in a 'substantial inquiry' if it is required 10 to take the agency's word that it considered all relevant matters"). The Court may consider extra-11 record material to "ascertain[] whether the agency considered all the relevant factors or fully 12 explicated its course of conduct or grounds of decision." Id.

13 The detriment to Colusa of the proposed Yuba County casino is relevant to both the NEPA requirement that Federal Defendants analyze the adverse impacts on the human environment and the 14 15 requirement that Federal Defendants determine whether an off-reservation casino would be 16 detrimental to surrounding Indian tribes. Defendants did not inquire into the impacts on Colusa, but 17 instead relied the conclusory statements of a stale socioeconomic report that despite the 18 "cannibalization" of millions of dollars of Colusa's casino business by the proposed Enterprise 19 casino in Yuba County the effects on its tribal government would be "minimal." ARN0024799. The 20 lack of any analysis based on any revenue figures, renders the so-called study contained in Appendix 21 M to the EIS an exercise in mere speculation. ARN0024811 (guessing at Colusa's market); ECF 106 22 at 5 (EIS study did not have access to any revenue figures). The author of Appendix M, Gaming 23 Market Advisors, did not attempt to obtain any revenue figures from Colusa or other Indian tribes, 24 and it "did not validate or verify" the data upon which its report was based – data primarily from the 25 gaming developer. ARN0024814.

COLUSA'S OPPOSITION TO FEDERAL DEFENDANTS' AND INTERVENOR'S MOTIONS TO STRIKE DECLARATION OF ALAN P. MEISTER, PHD

(quoting Brower v. Evans, 257 F.3d 1058, 1067 (9th Cir. 2001) (internal quotation marks omitted, 1 2 insertion in original). The Meister Declaration and the report it summarizes are "necessary to 3 determine 'whether the agency has considered all relevant factors and has explained its decision,' and 'to explain ... complex subject matter." Southwest Ctr. for Biological Diversity v. U.S. Forest Serv., 4 5 100 F.3d 1443, 1450 (9th Cir. 1996) (quoting Inland Empire, 88 F.3d at 703-04)); Lands Council, 6 395 F.3d at 1030. The RODs, however, relied solely upon the conclusory statement that there would 7 be only minimal impacts on the tribes to whom the Department owes a fiduciary responsibility equal 8 to that it owes to Enterprise despite the fact that the statement was based on guesses about other 9 casinos' markets and revenues. Moreover, those guesses only addressed extent of the impacts on 10 other Indian tribes' casinos, and gave no consideration whatsoever to the devastating impacts on the 11 tribal governments dependent upon revenues from those casinos. ARN0024799 ("decline in tribal 12 revenue ... [not] anything more than minimal"); compare ECF 106 at 6 (finding that the relationship 13 between casino and government revenues is not linear).

The conflict between the Appendix M analysis in the EIS and Dr. Meister's analysis of the impacts on Colusa is not a mere difference of opinion in which a federal agency is entitled to rely upon its own experts – not that the Department is entitled to deference on economic matters, and in any event, the Department had no experts of its own – but the utter failure of the Department to consider a core matter within its responsibility, that is, the welfare of its other tribal beneficiaries.

The EIS's purported analysis of the impacts on other casinos targeted for cannibalization is unscientific in the extreme, based as it is on factually unfounded assumptions rather than evidence. E.g., ARN0024811. Worse still, the analysis of the likely impacts on the Indian tribes, their governments, and their tribal members is nonexistent. By relying upon what is essentially a market analysis promoting the Enterprise Casino, the Department entirely failed to consider an important aspect of the problem committed to its care by Congress. Motor Vehicle Mfrs., 463 U.S. at 43; National Wildlife Fed'n, 422 F.3d at 798-99.

Although the Department bears the primary responsibility to develop the facts on its own initiative, in this case it did not. 'Ilio'ulaokalani Coalition v. Rumsfeld, 464 F.3d 1083, 1092 (9th Cir. 2006). The sensitivity of the information about the impacts on the Colusa casino made it
