

I. Experienced Indian Law & Gaming Attorney/ Advisory Director

Crowe & Dunlevy, one of Oklahoma's oldest and largest law firms with offices in Oklahoma City and Tulsa, seeks an attorney with 7-9 years of experience to serve in our expanding Indian Law & Gaming practice group. The firm's Indian Law & Gaming practice group serves numerous tribal governments and their entities and organizations, as well as international gaming companies. Our attorneys offer our tribal clients with services that include general counsel, consultation attorney general, and prosecution, as well as provide legal advice and representation in economic development, gaming regulation, compact negotiation, transactional matters, energy environmental law, intellectual property, and financing, in many forums including the courts and agencies of tribes, states, the federal government, and foreign and international governments. Crowe & Dunlevy seeks an outstanding qualified lawyer for the Tulsa office.

Responsibilities include:

- Providing legal advice, counsel, and assistance to tribal governments and departments in areas related to tribal government, tribal community services, and tribal courts;
- Representing tribes in contract negotiations, including large financial transactions;
- Providing counsel and representation in economic development, business, and corporate law;
- Advising tribal governments and their agencies on tribal gaming and gaming regulation issues;
- Conducting litigation in tribal, federal, and state courts; and,
- Actively supervise and mentor associate attorneys and support staff.

The ideal candidate will have:

- J.D. from an ABA accredited law school, with course work in Federal Indian Law;
- Active member in good standing of a bar association of at least one state jurisdiction and an ability and willingness to obtain licensure in Oklahoma and various tribal courts;
- Minimum 5-7 years of dedicated work with Federal Indian Law issues;
- Demonstrated cultural familiarity, respect and experience in representing tribes, tribal governments and those doing business with tribes and demonstrated experience in establishing trusted relationships with tribes, tribal government and tribal business organizations;
- Proven analytical, research and writing abilities;
- Proven communication skills, including verbal, written and listening skills, superior interpersonal skills and proven record of problem solving and conflict management; and
- Ability to work independently and provide leadership within a fast paced practice group and large law firm.

Crowe & Dunlevy offers a competitive salary and bonus opportunity, contribution to 401k, excellent benefits and superior support staff and technical and logistical support. This position will have the potential to lead to shareholder membership within the firm based upon experience and performance.

Send your resume/curriculum vitae, cover letter with salary requirements, three writing samples, two of which are Indian law related to Lisa Rose, Director of Human Resources, Braniff Building, 324 N. Robinson, Suite 100, Oklahoma City, OK 73102. Professional references may be requested during the interview process.