FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

June 6, 2016

The Public Land & Resources Law Review is pleased to announce the publication of the 37th annual edition of our journal. The Public Land & Resources Law Review (“PLRLR”) is a student-run scholarly publication, dedicated to law, policy, and scholarship. It provides a forum for state, regional, tribal, national, and international topics related to public lands, natural resources, and Indian law.

Our 2016 publication draws from our 36th Public Land Law Conference, Transcending Boundaries: Achieving Success in Cooperative Management of Natural Resources, held at the University of Montana in October 2015. That Conference drew scholars and practitioners from across the United States and explored the management of natural resources across, state, tribal, and international boundaries.

Founded in 1980 by Professor Margery Hunter Brown, and stewarded for years by Professor Raymond Cross, the PLRLR strives to present scholarship addressing contemporary legal issues facing Indian country, as well as issues in the fields of public land and natural resource law. We are particularly honored this year to publish an entire edition dedicated to cutting edge scholarship on pressing issues of American Indian, and Canadian First Nation, law.

This year’s publication includes:

Monte Mills, What Should Tribes Expect from Federal Regulations? The Bureau of Land Management’s Fracking Rule and the Problems with Treating Indian and Federal Lands Identically, 37 PUB. LAND & RESOURCES L. REV. 1 (2016), available at <http://scholarship.law.umt.edu/plrlr/vol37/iss1/5>

Paul Stanton Kibel, Passage and Flow Considered Anew: Wild Salmon Restoration Via Hydro Relicensing, 37 PUB. LAND & RESOURCES L. REV. 65 (2016), available at <http://scholarship.law.umt.edu/plrlr/vol37/iss1/4>

Julia Guarino, Protecting Traditional Water Resources: Legal Options for Preserving Tribal Non-Consumptive Water Use, 37 PUB. LAND & RESOURCES L. REV. 89 (2016), available at <http://scholarship.law.umt.edu/plrlr/vol37/iss1/3>

Wesley J. Furlong, “Salmon is Culture, and Culture is Salmon”: Reexamining the Implied Right to Habitat Protection as a Tool for Cultural and Ecological Preservation, 37 PUB. LAND & RESOURCES L. REV. 114 (2016), available at <http://scholarship.law.umt.edu/plrlr/vol37/iss1/2>

Matthew J. McKinney, Richard Kyle Paisley & Molly Smith Stenovec, A Sacred Responsibility: Governing the Use of Water and Related Resources in the International Columbia Basin Through the Prism of Tribes and First Nations, 37 PUB. LAND & RESOURCES L. REV. 157 (2016), available at <http://scholarship.law.umt.edu/plrlr/vol37/iss1/1>

The entire publication can be found at: <http://www.publiclandlawreview.com>.

We thank the authors, panelists, and moderators for their contributions to the PLRLR, scholarship, and the Conference; our Editors and Staff for their hard work and dedication; and our advisors, Professors Martha Williams and Michelle Bryan, for their guidance.

Sincerely,

PLRLR Editorial Board
