

INFORMATION - FAQs

Is there a registration cost to attend the Training?

No, there is no cost to you or your tribe/organization to register for the Training, but space is limited and is on a first-to-register basis. Transportation and lodging is not covered. TJS provides grant funding for tribes/tribal courts to train; contact Melissa Lee at TJS: melissa.lee@bia.gov, 505-563-5374.

Who should attend the Training?

Anyone who practices in tribal court and encounters domestic/family violence in their cases will benefit from the lectures, “how tos,” fact pattern scenarios and hands-on workshops. Tribal court personnel, tribal departments, administrators and law enforcement interested in how tribes might implement VAWA/DV court procedures will benefit from the presentations and discussions led by working tribal court judges and other professionals.

What is the Training about?

The Training is designed to assist tribes/tribal courts in their implementation of the expanded provisions of the re-authorized Violence Against Women Act, especially in P.L. 280 jurisdictions. Day 1 of the Training will feature lectures, presentations and discussion of relevant topics; Day 2 Workshops will focus on the drafting of domestic violence codes, pleadings and documents; Day 3 will focus on preparation for a Domestic Violence-based trial.

What accommodations are available?

A block of discounted rooms, code name “VAWA,” is reserved at the Corque Hotel, 400 Alisal Road, Solvang, CA, 800-248-6274, info@hotelcorque.com, <https://corquehotel.com>. The nearest airport is Santa Barbara (SBA)(30 minutes) and the nearest major airport is Los Angeles (LAX)(2 hours). Map

Can I attend virtually?

This Training is in-person only.

Is CLE available?

Attorneys may self-report their participation to claim CLE credit. Rules, calculations and limits vary by state.

How do I register?

Contact James Lambertus: training@native-knowledge.com, 405-650-5996.

